eMedia Music Partners with Adium Software Inc. to Release New Series of Music Theory Software

Seattle, WA —January 21, 2015. eMedia Music Corp., publisher of the world's best-selling series of music tutorial software and DVDs announced a new partnership with Adium Software Inc. to develop and distribute a new series of music theory software.

eMedia Music and Adium Software Inc. of Vancouver BC have entered into a new agreement to develop a new line of music theory software which will be distributed exclusively by eMedia Music in North America, the United Kingdom, Europe and Australia. The soon to be announced music theory software products will feature an interactive curriculum for learning and teaching music theory for students of all ages and musicians at all levels. A consumer edition as well as specialized academic licenses for schools and educators will be made available in 2015.

"Learning music theory can be a very challenging task." said Alex Monjushko, President of Adium Software, "Our software combines audiovisual lessons with interactive exercises and tests, to provide a complete learning experience that is simple, fun and exceptionally effective. We are pleased to partner with eMedia Music to offer a modern, best-of-breed music theory learning product for students of all ages."
