eMedia Contributes Music Software to GAMA Teaching Guitar Workshops

Seattle, WA —July 16, 2013. eMedia recently signed on to contribute their award-winning guitar tutorial software, including eMedia Guitar Method, eMedia Intermediate Guitar Method and My Guitar, to instructors with the Guitar and Accessories Marketing Association's (GAMA) successful Teaching Guitar Workshops program. The purpose of the Teaching Guitar Workshops is to help start classroom guitar programs across the U.S. and Canada. Since its inception in 1995, the GAMA Teaching Guitar Workshops program has taught over 3,000 school music educators.

Every year, members of GAMA contribute guitars, accessories, and method books to the school music teachers who participate in the Teaching Guitar Workshops. Access to guitars, method books, and guitar-products of all types facilitates the learning experience and underscores the strong relationship between music education and the music products industry.

"For over a decade, eMedia has been proud to support GAMA because the Teaching Guitar Workshops program supports and strengthens school music, creates new guitar players and provides more music-making opportunities for young people," said Dave Kurtiak, Educational Sales Manager of eMedia. "Our guitar instruction software is used in hundreds of schools across the U.S. and Canada and GAMA is an important part of reaching music educators."

"GAMA's TGW program creates shared value for school music educators, students, and the music products industry," said Robert Sulkow, Executive Director of GAMA. "GAMA's classroom-guitar programs have brought music instruction to 1.28 million students and influenced $167 million in sales of guitar products. The members of GAMA are making that possible through funding support and through product contributions."
