eMedia Music Offers New Incentive Program for Homeschooling: 25% Off for Homeschoolers in the U.S. and Canada

Seattle, WA — March 25, 2014. eMedia Music Corp., publisher of the world's best-selling series of music tutorial software and DVDs, has launched a new incentive program for homeschoolers in the U.S. and Canada. Qualified homeschoolers can now receive a 25% off discount on purchases of eMedia's line of instructional software and instrument packs to offer music lessons to their homeschool students.

eMedia's music instruction software and instrument packs are ideal for use in homeschooling. Parents do not need any prior musical ability or special training to offer music education to their homeschool children. eMedia's software features a complete music curriculum including lessons on music theory, reading music, and songs. Fun games help homeschooled children stay engaged as they learn to play an instrument. eMedia instrument packs are a complete homeschool solution, which includes the instrument, valuable accessories, and software. eMedia offers programs for guitar, piano & keyboard, violin, voice and more.

The Old Schoolhouse® Magazine says, "Young children through adults will enjoy eMedia's programs, and it is perfect for those who have never played before. It is definitely worth the purchase price, especially when you think about how much it would cost to pay for lessons for each individual in your family. Students can review lessons at their convenience and skip ahead when necessary. This is a good program at a great value!"

eMedia also features a 30-day money back guarantee on software when purchased direct from eMedia.

To qualify for a special 25% off discount, homeschoolers in the U.S. and Canada need to visit <http://www.emediamusic.com/homeschool> for more information.
