New iDrum Version 1.7 Now Available from eMedia Music

Seattle, WA — November 14, 2008, eMedia Music Corp*.,* through its distribution agreement with iZotope, Inc., announced the release of iZotope's new iDrum® Version 1.7 Virtual Drum Machine software. iDrum Version 1.7 adds the missing ingredient to your music creation: a powerful and easy to use drum machine for practicing, performing or recording. It's just as simple to use as the hardware drum machines of yesterday with all the flexibility and cost savings of a software-based virtual instrument.

iDrum comes with hundreds of pre-programmed patterns, rhythms and drum sounds for you to mix and match. The new Song Editor mode makes it a snap to assemble your composition, even if you have never sequenced before. Create drum patterns in iDrum right alongside your existing tracks, perfectly in time, or use iDrum to provide the backbeat when you're laying down new tracks.

Create your own custom drum kits. iDrum will load sound files as drum samples, making iDrum's sound palette limited only by your sonic imagination. You can even download more kits quickly and easily with iDrum Sound Portal. iDrum also features an array of sound-shaping tools like filters, pitch control and envelopes, letting you create custom drum sounds at the click of your mouse.

iDrum works standalone or with most professional host applications. Use iDrum seamlessly with GarageBand®, Logic®, Ableton® Live™, Pro Tools®, SONAR™, Cubase®, Digital Performer® and other host programs. Supported plug-in formats include: RTAS, VST, Audio Units and MAS. Whether you are a beginner or a professional, iDrum is your new beatbox.
